Foreword

Dear shareholders,

ad pepper media has just accomplished the most successful quarter in the history of the Company. A 70 percent growth in turnover and profits of over 6 million EUR within three months clearly underline the strengths and correct strategic alignment of our Company.

The quarter kicked off with two major events outside operating business. The sale of interests by dMarc Broadcasting Inc. to search engine giant Google and the disposal of the minority interest in Falk eSolutions AG to DoubleClick, the global market leader in adserving, enabled generation of cash inflows totalling 16 million USD and extraordinary income, which could well increase significantly due to longstanding earn-out provisions. However, of particular interest regarding these transactions is the fact that leading American software companies are indirectly purchasing ad pepper media technology; clear evidence of just how far the Company has already come in its development as a marketing and technology Company. As such, it remains clear that these sales will strengthen our technological position in the long-term, while the cash inflows enable accelerated development of existing systems and products.

Our focus in the future will also centre on targeted purchases of complimentary companies and products. With the acquisition of Crystal Reference Ltd., we gained a further technology pearl. Crystal's sound scientific approach to language analysis combined with its excellent technology offers us access to the dynamic commercial field of search engine marketing, given that Crystal's patented semantic targeting stands head and shoulders above traditional search optimisation.

Alongside these exceptional events, the simultaneous and rapid development of operating ratios is also highly pleasing. In terms of our turnover development, we have significantly exceeded the market growth in our sector of classical online-advertising. Notwithstanding a larger premium share attributable to mediasquares, the increasingly optimised and wider application of our webstats4U software platform brought about an improvement in gross margin. These factors have also had a lasting effect on operating results in that, following adjustment for extraordinary items, we succeeded in generating a high, six-figure result.

ad pepper media is in an excellent position both in terms of the upcoming quarter and its long-term development. Numerous new products and services are in the pipeline that will enable us to provide customers and website partners alike with continually improved results. For all this we have our employees to thank, whose performance can be looked upon with pride by all our shareholders day in, day out; a task that is certain to prove even easier with the boost of a significantly increased share price.

We look forward to the exciting times and new challenges ahead, without for a moment allowing current successes to lure us into a false sense of security; but rather relying on them as an incentive to further justify the trust of our shareholders.

Result - first quarter of 2006

ad pepper media International N.V. has kicked off its 2006 fiscal year with considerable growth in turnover and an outstanding result, closing its first quarter with record figures.

Turnover for the first quarter of 2006 shows a 70 percent increase over the previous year's period, with 9,263 kEUR (Q1/2005:5,450 kEUR), not only far exceeding growth in its own sector but also its own high expectations. At the same time, the Company succeeded in boosting its gross margin by 84 percent, from 2,384 kEUR in the first quarter of 2005 to 4,393 kEUR in the guarter under report, with the increased use of the Company's own webstats4U network. In particular, the extraordinary profits from the sale of the Company's stake in dMarc Broadcasting Inc. and Falk eSolutions AG raised earnings before interest and taxes (EBIT) enormously to 6,248 kEUR, after -23 kEUR in the first quarter of 2005. However, the trend in results without these special effects is also significant, with operating results of over 500 kEUR being achieved in this generally weak guarter. Profit before taxes for the first quarter of 2006 is 6,377 kEUR (Q1/2005: 161 kEUR). The consolidated gain for the first quarter amounts to 6,085 kEUR (Q1/2005: 155 kEUR).

At the cut-off date of 31 March 2006, the Company had liquid resources, including short-term liquidisable fixed asset securities and restricted cash, amounting to 27.9 million EUR. The change in liquidity compared with 31 December 2005 results principally from the sale of shares in dMarc and Falk eSolutions AG, as well as the acquisition of Crystal Reference Systems Ltd.

Business development

In the business sectors of media, direct marketing and technology, ad pepper media creates interactive and target-group-orientated marketing solutions to enable both advertisers and agencies to successfully implement their products and advertising strategies. As such, ad pepper media covers the complete spectrum of efficient online advertising as a comprehensive provider of great value reach products, ranging from various effective branding solutions to new customer acquisition and customer loyalty initiatives.

At present, the Company has 18 offices in 11 European countries and one in the USA. Using first-rate technology, ad pepper media links thousands of small, medium and large websites into a premium quality advertising network that currently handles around 4 billion exclusive advertising hits each month, in addition to several billion advertising hits in more than 40 countries via its numerous international partnerships. The Company is marketing leading websites like sport1, map24, maximonline or DasTelefonbuch under the names of ad pepper media and mediasquares. With over 4 million own opt-in email profiles, ad pepper media also boasts one of the largest pan-European email databases.

As far as Company performance is concerned, the first quarter was exceptionally eventful. On 17 January 2006, Google announced the takeover of dMarc Broadcasting Inc. Part of the transaction comprised the disposal of a 7.8 percent interest by ad pepper media, which had already invested in dMarc Broadcasting Inc. at an early stage.

In mid-March 2006, ad pepper media announced the takeover of Crystal Reference System Ltd., including its business units Crystal Reference and Crystal Semantics. Crystal Reference (www.crystalreference.com) is a leading provider of reference works and knowledge databases, while Crystal Semantics (www.crystalsemantics.com) offers innovative technical solutions for contextual search and advertising products. This acquisition expands the ad pepper media product range with contextual targeting services for website administrators, advertisers, search engines and SEO providers, as well as for advertising networks and adserver providers.

Within the scope of the takeover of Falk eSolutions AG by DoubleClick announced on 17 March 2006, ad pepper media also sold its 25.1 percent share in the company. The successful strategic partnership and proven cooperation between ad pepper media and Falk eSolutions AG/DoubleClick will, nevertheless, continue unchanged. As one of the first customers, ad pepper media is switching to the integrated product "DART for Publishers".

ad pepper media is also constantly expanding its service spectrum within individual business sectors, developing new products and services to ensure constantly improved results for customers and website partners alike, and now has more than a dozen efficient marketing tools that can be extended and tailored to market requirements and customer needs.

Online advertising

For years, increasing worldwide user figures and particularly the disproportionate rise in online media consumption have been established facts justifying the exceptional growth predictions for the online advertising market in terms of both time and extent.

In this respect, the most dynamic areas of recent years have undoubtedly been those of search engines and affiliate marketing. Nevertheless, due to a host of limiting factors and increasingly tough competition, these are precisely the markets where consolidation and an attenuation of the growth curve will make their presence felt in future.

As a consequence, classical online advertising will benefit somewhat on account of the fact that prices and media share in this area still afford clear upward room for manoeuvre. Of particular interest, how- ever, are current developments in the content area. Slowly but surely traditional portals and essentially static general interest websites are losing in significance. Publication of web content is moving more and more from editorial teams and large-scale units to the individual, be it through chat, communities, podcasting or blogs.

The content is highly diverse, if somewhat anarchic in cases. Nevertheless, the target groups are precisely those that advertisers want to and indeed must reach; consequently, anyone wishing to succeed in the long-term with their online media campaigns will need to adapt to this development.

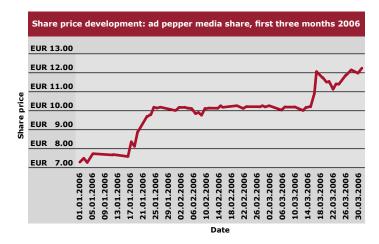

In this respect, technologies and services capable of organising and categorising the unimaginable volume of such individualised traffic while safeguarding quality and addressing the correct target group, will become increasingly important. These are precisely the functions ensured by the products of Crystal Reference, ad pepper media's most recent acquisition.

In view of all these aspects, ad pepper media is in an excellent position to extract long-term and also disproportionate benefit from this dynamic growth.

The share

Development in the share price of ad pepper media International N.V. in the first 3 months of 2006 was particularly pleasing for both the Company and shareholders alike.

Fired by the announcement of the sale of dMarc shares to Google, the price rose to over 10 EUR in January, an increase of 34.58 percent. In the following February the share price remained steady, moving between 10 EUR and 10.20 EUR. The sale of Falk shares to DoubleClick announced on 15 March 2006 triggered an upward shift, which was further boosted by the announcement of the acquisition of Crystal Reference Systems Ltd. on the following day. On 16 March 2006, the shares peaked for the month at 12.90 EUR - a new five-year high - equating to an increase in share price of 25 percent in just two days. Throughout the rest of the month the price slackened somewhat to 10.46 EUR, before rising once again following publication of provisional quarterly figures to see out the first quarter of 2006 at 12.20 EUR.

A comparison with the development of the Prime All Share Index shows that ad pepper media was able to significantly outperform the general business trend with a share price advance of 66 percent (as of 31 March 2006). On the same reporting date, the above-mentioned industry index registered an increase by merely 11 percent.

Under www.adpepper.com (Investor Relations), interested parties have the opportunity to obtain comprehensive Company information and to download financial statements and reports as well as press releases. In addition, we are always there to answer questions of our investors and parties interested in potential investments by phone or email.

Outlook

The rates of growth in turnover seen in the first quarter have once again demonstrated that ad pepper media's business model has been able to outstrip market growth. Orders received and the volume booked give rise to an expectation that this development will also continue in the upcoming quarters as compared to the equivalent quarters of last year. The Company's profit position is similarly expected to experience continued improvement.

This positive analysis is also shared by numerous investors and analysts; thereby also giving us reason to deduce that the price of ad pepper media shares will continue to rise.
